As regards the American people, we must chasten ourselves by remembering that the United States of America is very large and various, that if New England is pro-Ally, California is pro-German, and that your people as a whole are one-third friendly, one-third indifferent and skeptical and the other third hostile.

Munition making is a great industry.

Munition making is a great industry, it is any other, and we are sentimentally absurd if we think it has anything more to do with political sympathies then wheat raising. The sum of these strange messages sent over to us after President Wilson's speeches is that Washington means to give the Allies very serious trouble, and that if we are building on American sympathy we are living in a fool's paradise.

SWEDES FISH FOR OIL

More than 3,000 Barrels Picked U from Wrecked Steamer. London, Feb. 5.—Reuter's Copenhag-n correspondent sends an explanation en correspondent sends an explanation of his dispatch of yesterday, in which he said that nearly the entire Esbjerg fishing fleet had abandoned its regular work to hunt barrels of oil drifting up from the south, 3,000 barrels having been picked up thus far.

Advices reaching Copenhagen from Esbjerg say the oil barrels are from the Swedish steamship Nereus, which was sunk by a mine in the North Sea in December. She had on board 6,000 barrels of oil from England. Part of this consignment was brought from America by the Danish steamer Absalom, which was stopped by the British and taken into Kirkwall.

ville, N. Y.)—"Further details of the attack by a British auxiliary cruiser, flying the Dutch flas on a German sub-marine are given from an authoritative source," says the Overseas News Agency. "The submarine signalled the Agency. The submarine signaled the steamer to send boats, in order that the steamer's papers might be exam-ined. This was done after an interval. It is stated the steamer was a freighter sh Dutch flag and bore the name Melanie.

"While waiting for the boats the submarine submerged. It approached within about 1 000 metres of the steamer ship, which opened fire with two cannon of medium type and with machine guns. The submarine escaped only by submerging. The steamer then attempted twice to ram the submarine, flying the Dutch flag all this time.

"There is no Dutch steamer Melanie, but there is a British boat of this name of 3,002 tons."

In Persia, in the region of Hamadan, the enemy has been thrown back toward Nokhovend, the Petrograd account adds.

"In connection with these facts, it is recalled that on January 28 the French mail boat Plata, without being attacked, opened fire on a submarine and sank it.
